

[[2026 FAQ Guide]] Is QuickBooks

Desktop going away in 2026?

QuickBooks Desktop is undergoing major changes, but it is not completely going away for everyone in 2026 (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

Intuit officially ended support, security updates, and connected features for all QuickBooks Desktop 2023 versions on May 31, 2026 (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

If you use the 2023 version, your software will still open, but you will completely lose access to live bank feeds, online payment processing, and payroll updates (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

Furthermore, running your payroll without automated tax table updates can lead to severe IRS compliance penalties (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

It is also important to note that Intuit stopped selling new subscriptions of QuickBooks Desktop Pro Plus, Premier Plus, and Mac Plus to new U.S. customers back in September 2024 (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

However, if you are an existing subscriber with a newer version like QuickBooks Desktop 2024, your software remains supported as long as you pay your annual renewal fee (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

Additionally, QuickBooks Enterprise is not being discontinued and continues to be fully sold and supported by Intuit as their premium on-premise solution (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

If your business relies on heavily customized inventory or complex workflows, moving your files requires careful planning to prevent data loss (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

Many business owners are currently transitioning their data over to QuickBooks Online to avoid security vulnerabilities and service disruptions (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).

If you need immediate assistance with upgrading your subscription, checking your software's lifecycle status, or safely migrating your historical company files, you can reach out for expert support (+1-800-379-5250 (USA) 📞).
